AUSTRALIAN SINGLES REPORT

ARIA AWARDS: BY THE NUMBERS

AND THE ARIA GOES TO...

Sony Music Australia had plenty to cheer about at the 2017 ARIA Awards. Denis Handlin spoke to TMN about the label's stellar year, and its immediate plans to take Aussie acts Gang of Youths and Amy Shark, to global heights. By Christie Eliezer Sony Music Entertainment Australia's sweep of last week's ARIA's was one of the major's biggest tally yet.

Six of the 20 major awards were claimed by Sony artists, and this year marked the first time in 22 years it took Album of the Year.

This was won by Gang of Youths' Go Farther In Lightness, which also went home with trophies for Best Group, Best Rock Album and Producer of the Year.

Understandably, the chairman and CEO of Sony Music Entertainment Australia and New Zealand, and President of Sony Music Entertainment Asia was pretty chuffed with the result.

"It was a brilliant night for our artists," Denis Handlin AO told TMN.

"I am extremely proud of our nominated and winning artists as well as the hard work of our passionate team at Sony Music Australia."

One artist that the label is seriously banking on, Amy Shark, was voted Breakthrough Artist and her Night Thinker EP got Best Pop Release.

Peking Duk's 'Stranger' (ft. Elliphant) was voted Song of The Year by the public, Harry Styles took Best International Artist and Daryl Braithwaite's induction into the ARIA Hall of Fame was met with an outpouring of affection by colleagues.

Handlin explains the factors behind Sony's success: "This business, like music itself, is always changing, which makes it both an exciting and a highly challenging industry.

"There is constant refining of how we work, and through this the A&R and marketing teams are more closely integrated than ever before.

"Most importantly, our special creative environment is strengthened through our very close partnerships with our artists on all aspects of their recording, marketing and career development.”

He adds that one of the effects of the ARIAs spotlight is that “it helps create attention from international markets to look even more closely at the Australian acts featured.”

Gangs of Youths and Amy Shark are certainly benefitting.

“We are in discussions with affiliates and partners around the world to break Gang Of Youths internationally,” Handlin said.

“They are an incredibly special band live and international touring will form an integral part of the plan.”

Right before the ARIA Awards ceremony, Amy Shark chosen as first Australian act for Apple Music’s Up Next - a huge coup for the 31-year-old who is currently supporting Sia on her Australian tour.

After a successful US, UK and Europe tour for Amy Shark this year, Handlin noted “Right now there are some very encouraging signs at US radio and this is starting to filter through to European markets.”

Sony’s 2018 slate for Australian releases includes Shark, Peking Duk, Tash Sultana, Delta Goodrem, Samantha Jade, Jessica Mauboy, Human Nature and Guy Sebastian, “as well as some major surprise releases which we will announce further down the track.

“We are also expanding our Talentworks Parade artists, influencers and sports management roster and continuing our digital platform innovations through Sharespace and other initiatives.”

In Handlin’s eyes, the ambitious Sharespace was a big achievement in 2017, and is set to continue into next year.

“It has shown us that you can build a sustainable audience around an online format very quickly, with an active group of Generation Z on YouTube and social media that are looking for entertainment delivered on their terms and in their own youth based style.”

Sony Music Australia walked away with 6 ARIA awards this year. UMA secured 6 awards, ahead of Warner (3), EMI (2) and Inertia (1)

It's been 22 years since the last time a Sony Music artist won Album of the Year

Peking Duk's track 'Stranger' peaked at #5 on the TMN Hot 100

Gang of Youths notched up more ARIA nominations this year than any other act

Gang of Youths' album Go Farther, In Lightness debuted at #1 on the ARIA Albums Chart

Amy Shark's breakthrough single 'Adore' spent 32 uninterrupted weeks on the Hot 100 chart

#1 HOT 100

PERFECT

Ed Sheeran | WMA

The Hot 100 seems to have reached a stalemate this week. The top four - Ed Sheeran, Camila Cabello, Sam Smith and Macklemore - have all stayed in the same positions for a second week in a row. This marks Sheeran's sixth consecutive week at #1 with 'Perfect'.

Rita Ora has broken into the Top 10 with her latest song 'Anywhere'. The track is her second Top 10 single of the year, after 'Your Song' peaked at #5.

Aussie electronic act PNAU make a giant leap on the chart this week following their performance at last Tuesday's ARIA Awards. 'Go Bang' is peaking at #26, up from #54 last week. You may remember their infectious track 'Chameleon', which peaked at #9 at the beginning of the year.

#1 MOST ADDED TO RADIO

CHUNKY

Bruno Mars | WMA

Commercial heavyweight Bruno Mars is back at the forefront of radio's attention adding another Most Added title to his decorated cabinet.

'Chunky' got off to a great start with across-the-board adds from the entire Nova Network. From there, Bruno didn't miss a beat as Ash London LIVE, the Hit Regional Network, and both KIIS stations lent their support.

Our hats go off to Aussie youngster Jordie Ireland whose new single 'Take Cover' made a massive first impression at radio this week. One of TMN's top singles going to commercial, it enjoyed a dream run, but was denied a shot at the crown by the Hit Regional network who failed to add the single.

#1 NEW SINGLE RELEASE

ONE LAST SONG

Sam Smith | EMI

Sam Smith takes another cut off his album The Thrill Of It All to commercial radio this week, our top pick for the week. Even before its official service, 'One Last Song' featured on the Hot 100, peaking at #54 a few weeks ago as Nova took the track to air immediately after the album was released.

Louis Tomlinson returns to radio with another solo release 'Miss You'. It's been five months since his last release, a collaboration with Bebe Rexha and Digital Farm Animals on 'Back To You'. With each single achieving more success, could this be Louis' next chance at securing some radio acclaim?

Commercial radio went crazy for Jax Jones' 'You Don't Know Me' earlier this year. Now, the English DJ drops 'Breathe' ft. Ina Wroldsen, who also contributed vocals to Calvin Harris' smash hit 'How Deep Is Your Love'.

RADIO WRAP

The biggest mover on the Hot 100 comes from Galantis & Throttle's 'Tell Me You Love Me'. On its ninth week in the chart, the slow burner is picking up some pace rising to #31 from #62.

There's only nine spins separating Ed Sheeran's 'Perfect' and Camila Cabello's 'Havana' at radio. While the gap is narrowing each week, Sheeran has managed to hold for another week on the Hot 100.

Australian artists have surged up the spins charts in the aftermath of the ARIA Awards. Guy Sebastian's 'Bloodstone' gained an extra 81 spins this week, while Peking Duk's 'Let You Down' also saw an increase in spins.

SINGLE SPOTLIGHT

DON'T TALK ABOUT IT

Ruby Boots | UMA

'Don't Talk About It' is the official second single and title track from Ruby Boots. The new album Don't Talk About It follows her award-winning debut release Solitude and is a bold new direction from the acclaimed performer. Ushering in a new breadth of sound, the 10-track album sees her embrace a generous dose of indie-rock while continuing to encompass all the Americana sensibilities for which Ruby Boots is known and greatly admired for.
